

Mike Buckner

Mike joined S2A Solutions in 2019 as the Federal Contract Management Lead to launch a division with the goal of offering the Federal and State Governments leadership development and organizational training. Mike offers a unique perspective having been on both sides of the procurement process. With a passion of helping those who have served, Mike is also advises the Veteran Leaders Program which is aimed at developing Veterans for success in the workplace.

Mike also owns and operates his own consulting company, Precision Project Solutions, whose mission is to help government contractors bid, win and manage contracts. Founded in 2014, Mike primarily caters to companies doing business with the Department of Defense (DoD) where he's worked on federal proposals with awards ranging from $300k to $2.5B.

Prior to founding his own business, Mike gained front line project management experience at a major defense contractor, managing over $97M of technical and affordability design contracts which created over $900M in acquisition cost savings for the customer without reducing operational capability. During this time, he used his experience and industry knowledge to earn a Project Management Professional (PMP) certification. Prior to his civilian career, Mike's professional experience started with over 6 years of active duty in the U.S. Navy as a Surface Warfare Officer.

Mike graduated from Purdue University with a degree in Political Science and has a MS degree in Finance and MBA from Indiana University. He currently lives with his family in the DC Metro area and enjoys running, biking, working on cars and is an active committee member with the local Boy Scout Pack.
